

FACULTY FACT SHEET

For more videos about the Faculty of Law visit here or here.

from across disciplines, including information technology, natural and applied sciences, commerce, and social sciences. Skills embedded in our courses empower students with abilities that are crucial in the work or business environment of the 21st century.

We strive for excellence in teaching and learning, research, and community engagement. Our faculty guarantees quality ethical legal training, relevant and forward-looking research, and meaningful community engagement that considers the need for social justice and equity. We are committed to making a positive contribution to every student, the law, and our society.

THIS IS US

Quality is key

The Faculty of Law provides quality legal education across its undergraduate and postgraduate offerings. We undertake focused and impactful research and are involved in the community with numerous projects. The faculty's goal is to equip law students with the knowledge, ethics and skills they will need in their professional lives, whether as practitioners, entrepreneurs, social architects or employees. We strive to expand the science of law through the impactful research that our staff and postgraduate students conduct in the service of democracy for a just and fair society.

We offer law programmes across our three campuses and have law clinics in Mahikeng, Mbombela and Potchefstroom. We therefore have a presence in and understanding of the needs of our people in urban and rural environments.

In our undergraduate studies, we incorporate public law, legal philosophy, and sound exposure to private and mercantile law, underpinned by criminal and procedural law. The postgraduate offerings on master's and doctoral levels encompass diverse fields, including environmental law and governance, estate law, international child law, labour law, public law and legal philosophy, criminal law, and international trade law.

NWU – an internationally renowned university

The NWU proudly represents the African continent on the global stage as one of the largest and most sought-after universities in the world. Known for its excellence in teaching and learning and research, the university boasts a student population that includes 65 different nationalities and bears testimony to the NWU's global competitive advantage.

Through strategic international collaborations with experts and other institutions of higher learning, the NWU further ensures a global footprint of distinction and quality. Consequently, the NWU takes great pride in the value of its comprehensive undergraduate and postgraduate programmes, as well as its proven research track record.

In its strong drive to foster increased internationalisation for staff and students alike, the Faculty of Law holds a number of memoranda of understanding (MoUs) and memoranda of agreement (MoAs) with African, European and American universities and law schools. These MoUs and MoAs govern aspects such as student exchange (at under and postgraduate level), staff mobility, co-teaching and co-publication, funding for visiting colleagues, and collaboration on shared conferences and colloquia.

Faculty facts

- The Center for World University Rankings (CWUR) placed the NWU in the top 4,1% of universities in their 2025 edition of the Global 2000 list.

ON GOOD AUTHORITY

Message from the executive dean, Prof. Kathleen van der Linde

The Faculty of Law wishes to welcome every law student to our three sites of delivery at the Mahikeng, Potchefstroom and Vanderbijlpark campuses. We are proud of all the people involved at the faculty – staff, students, and alumni.

In the next few years, we envision a multi-disciplinary LLB qualification that will respond to the ever-changing landscape of legal education, the transformation of our laws, and the integration of indigenous law as integral part of the evolution of legal jurisprudence.

Our qualifications will keep abreast of the connection between law and technology, including AI and robotics. Our signature undergraduate and graduate qualifications will attract students

- 50% of academic staff members at the faculty hold doctoral degrees and their fields of expertise cover a wide spectrum of legal disciplines.
- The Minister of Justice and Correctional Services recently appointed Prof Christa Rautenbach and Prof Anél du Plessis as advisory committee members of the South African Law Reform Commission.
- Prof Oliver Fuo is a former recipient of the prestigious Alexander von Humboldt George Forster Fellowship.
- Former LLD candidate Biandri Joubert received a research fellowship from the United Nations African Institute for Economic Development and Planning.
- The faculty collaborates with the Free University in Berlin, Germany, to conduct research on the globalisation of urban governance and its relationship with international and domestic legal systems.
- The faculty annually hosts the Juta Mock Trial competition and participates in numerous other moot court competitions.
- The faculty has 9 NRF-rated researchers with B2, B3, C1, C2 and Y2 statuses..

Our faculty in numbers

(Staff and student figures as on 15 April 2025)

Undergraduate students:
2 685

Postgraduate students:
400

International students:
73

Academic staff:
99

Support staff:
71

NRF-rated researchers:
9

ACADEMIC PROGRAMMES AND LEGAL ASSISTANCE

In our undergraduate programmes we are committed to academic excellence, have an innovative approach to the teaching of law, and aim to offer high-quality instruction in law subjects.

Mahikeng Law Clinic

At the Community Law Centre, we provide quality legal assistance to the community – primarily to indigent people who qualify for free legal assistance. The service also serves as a space where students undergo practical legal training and are empowered to apply their skills in a safe environment.

The centre serves the communities around Mahikeng and offers professional and technical assistance to local non-profit organisations and traditional councils who share our commitment to social justice. The centre also trains candidate attorneys for admission and enrolment.

Potchefstroom Law Clinic

The Law Clinic is committed to legal education and access to justice and operates in the North-West and Mpumalanga provinces. It is involved in several projects, such as the provision of free legal services to poor and marginalised people who qualify for such services in terms of our means test policy, legal education that includes practical legal training to students, community outreach activities, capacity building programmes, and advisory services.

These projects are undertaken in cooperation with several organisations such as Legal Aid South Africa, government departments, provincial community-based paralegal organisations, and different NGOs and CBOs. Funding from international and national donors enables the Law Clinic to conduct these activities.

Short learning programmes

Any member of the public may enrol for these courses if they comply with the admission criteria. Our programmes comply with the prescribed 40-hour formal training and standards set by the court-annexed mediation rules as one of the requirements for registration as a mediator. These programmes can be adapted to your needs and presented as in-house training programmes.

The Potchefstroom Law Clinic offers a variety of short courses and short learning programmes, primarily to community-based paralegals, but also to social workers, candidate legal practitioners and legal practitioners.

Click here to see which undergraduate programmes we offer

Click here for our postgraduate diplomas and short learning courses

Click here for our postgraduate programmes

RESEARCH

Research Unit for Law, Justice and Sustainability

The Research Unit for Law, Justice and Sustainability addresses developmental and legal challenges in South Africa. The various projects in the unit deal with cutting-edge issues that cut across both the public and private sectors. Examples are trade and development, land issues, poverty alleviation, environmental governance, the realisation of socio-economic rights, religion, and culture.

The research unit is closely linked with the accredited journal, Potchefstroom Electronic Law Journal.

Research chair

NRF South African Research Chair in Cities, Law and Environmental Sustainability (CLES)

The South African Research Chair in Cities, Law and Environmental Sustainability (CLES) forms part of the faculty's Research Unit for Law, Justice and Sustainability.

CLES is devoted to legal scholarship and research skills development for sustainable urban development in South Africa, the broader African region and beyond. The CLES aims to produce and publish relevant research and collaborate with policy makers, government officials, NGOs, and any institution devoted to urban development and sustainable governance.

Potchefstroom Electronic Law Journal

The Potchefstroom Electronic Law Journal is the faculty's flagship and has taken its place among a range of renowned internationally accredited journals. The journal has had 53,175 downloads to date.

The faculty has also recently launched the NWU Law Student Journal, which is administered by students. As a student, you will have an opportunity to be involved in research and administration at an early stage.

APPLICATIONS

Admission requirements

The Faculty of Law has different admission requirements for various degree programmes. Click here for detailed information.

How do I apply?

Please refer to our website for online applications.

Money matters

For a wide range of bursaries and financial support, please contact 018 299 2672 or visit our website.

We want to hear from you

Phone Alpha Marais at 018 299 1922. You can also send an email or visit our website.

