

CAMPUS HEALTH CARE CENTRE R & O AND YOUR HEALTH IMMUNISATIONS/VACCINATIONS

Globally first-year students may have an increased risk of disease caused by meningococcal (bacterial meningitis) in comparison to the general population. Meningococcal disease may be a deadly disease that is preventable through vaccination and therefore it is highly advisable that all first-year students be vaccinated against meningitis.

Immunisation entails preventative treatment aimed at building immunity against specific infectious diseases, such as Meningitis, Measles, German measles and Mumps.

THE FOLLOWING IMMUNISATIONS IS AVAILABLE AT YOUR CAMPUS HEALTH CARE CENTRE:

- Meningitis
- MMR (Measles, German measles & Mumps)
- Tetanus
- Hepatitis B
